House OKs big tax slash

WASHINGTON (AP) - The House more spending money in the pockets of allowance may filibuster against a tax the House rejected 251 to 160 a has voted to cut taxes by $21.3 billion, mostly for those with income under $20,000. It also approved repeal of the oil depletion allowance, which might slow the tax bill's progress in the

The tax cut bill, approved 317 to 97, provides rebates on 1974 taxes and lower 1975 taxes through decreased withholding rates. The Democraticsponsored measure is designed to put consumers and thus stimulate the slumping economy.

Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., chairman of the Senate Finance Committee which will hold hearings on the bill, promised prompt action by his panel. He predicted the Senate will approve a bill that would result in tax cuts at least as high as those approved by the House.

However, some senators have warned that supporters of the depletion cut bill containing a repealer of the allowance. The petroleum industry saves an estimated $2.5 billion in taxes annually from the allowance.

The bill provides $16.21 billion in relief to individual taxpayers and $5.07 billion in benefits for businesses. About 89 per cent of the individual tax benefits would go to persons earning $20,000 a year or less.

Just before approving the measure,

Republican-backed proposal that would have provided $12.2 billion in 1974 tax rebates.

The successful bill provides 1974 tax rebates of around $8 billion. The rebates generally amount to 10 per cent and would be refunded starting in May. The top rebate would be $200 and the minimum would be $100, but anyone who paid less than $100 in taxes would get all of the tax back.

The successful bill also provided for about $8 billion in lower 1975 taxes through lower withholding rates beginning May 1. The lower rates would reflect these changes:

-The minimum standard deduction, also known as the low-income allowance, would increase from $1,300 to $1,900 for singles and $2,500 for couples filing a joint return.

-The standard deduction, which is used by taxpayers who do not itemize their deductions, would increase from 15 per cent to 16 per cent of gross in-

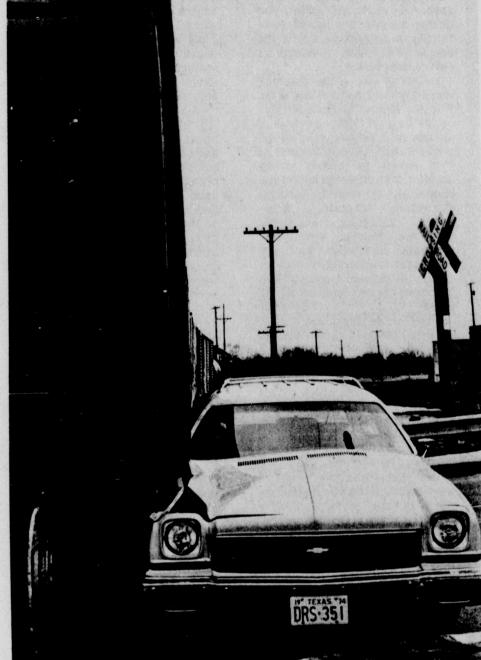

-The maximum standard deduction would increase from $2,000 to $2,500 for singles and $3,000 for couples filing a joint return.

The bill also grants a special new 5 per cent tax credit on earned income, meaning wages and any selfemployment income, with a maximum $200 credit. This credit would go only to low-income persons and would start being reduced at the $4,000 income level. It would fully phase out at $6,000 of income.

The special credit also would make cash payments to persons who are too poor to be required to file income tax returns. This cash payment feature is believed to be the first time the federal government would go through the tax system this way in making payments to poor persons.

For businesses, the package includes 1975 and 1976 investment tax credit changes as an incentive for machinery and equipment purchases.

TRAIN TAKES BITE OUT OF CAR - An accident involving a train conducted by William B. Honnaker, 49, of Vandalia, and an auto driven by Elsie J. Engle, 30, of 315 Sixth St., occurred at the intersection of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad tracks with S. North Street at 9:37 a.m. Friday. Washington C. H. Police Specialist Larry Walker, who was on the scene investigating reported the collision caused the car to spin around and stop parallel with the train. No one was injured and no citations were issued.

Officials say postal strike not expected to materialize

A threatened nationwide postal strike in March over a controversial delivery system is not expected to materialize, according to Washington C.H. postal officials.

The strike was first proposed by the National Association of Letter Carriers to be held in March if the U.S. Postal Service implemented a new delivery system designed for greater efficiency but which union leaders said would eliminate 15,000 jobs.

Gordon Davis, president of Local No. 288 of the National Association of Letter Carriers, said no strike was expected because "the Kokomo plan has been indefinitely postponed."

The Kokomo plan, officially known as the Letter Carrier Route Evaluation System, was tested in Kokomo, Ind., to measure individual carriers' performance in order to establish more efficient routes and has been the center of dispute between postal officials and union leaders.

The number of carriers in Kokomo was reduced from 25 to 23 under the experimental system and union officials feared the implementation of the system nationally would result in abolishing 15,000 jobs and overburdening mail carriers. However, the same system was utilized in Portland, Ore., and led to the addition of one carrier at that location.

master of the Washington C.H. Post Office at 129 W. Market St., speaking for vacationing postmaster Richard Witherspoon, said the local office had received no information on a pending strike.

Lewis Elliott, assistant post-

Elliott said the office had received a newsletter from the U.S. Postal Service in Washington D.C. stating the Postal Service intended to continue the present testing systems $ in Kokomo and Portland.

"No date and no firm commitment have been made in utilizing the Kokomo plan; they are still just testing," Elliott said.

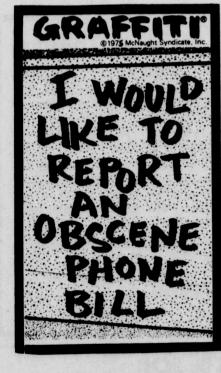

Demos hand Ford energy plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democrats President Ford to see if their new, reconciled with his.

The Democratic program announced Thursday as a means of reviving the economy and conserving energy marked the first time in memory that a congressional party devised its own broad, long-range legislative blueprint to compete with one from the White

A cornerstone in the plan was a proposal to add five cents to the existing four-cent federal gasoline tax.

House and Senate Democratic leaders, along with the Democratic energy task force chiefs in both houses, were to confer this afternoon with Ford, whose energy plan they say would depress the economy. They were seeking his input on their plan and possible compromises.

The Democrats said Ford's plan hike and sidelining prospects for setin Congress are headed into talks with would "needlessly and massively ting a quota to cut oil imports. depress the economy further, add to the cost of living for all Americans and place highly inequitable cost burdens upon such basic necessities as homeheating, food production and clothing.'

The first criticism came not from the White House but from the so-called citizens lobby, Common Cause, which said the Democrats waffled on tough energy conservation questions.

The Senate Democrats prevailed in scaling down Houseproposed energy cutbacks, going along with no more than a 5-cent-per-gallon gasoline tax

Many House members were irate at energy-conserving measures while also attempting to revive the economy, but they compromised to preserve a united Democratic front rather than pull out of the joint talks.

Despite the task force's recommendation of only a 5-cent gasoline tax, the chairman of the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee will push for a substantially higher tax on

McElroy resigns as Rhodes aide

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) - John M. McElroy steps down today as Gov. James A. Rhodes' executive assistant after only two months at a post often described as the second most powerful position in the state.

McElroy, 66, had served as Rhodes' right hand man for eight consecutive years during two previous Republican administrations, and reluctantly signed on again late last year for the $36,962-a-year post.

But after inauguration day, Jan. 13, he recalled, "the real hassle began and it seemed like a replay. Only this time it was more boring than exciting."

His successor is expected to be Thomas J. Moyer, a former member of the Columbus Board of Education who worked for Rhodes during his second term in the late 1960s. Moyer, 35, is currently a $24,710-a-year administrative assistant in the governor's McElroy has been known as a tough political operative who rearely ducked partisan disputes during his years at the Statehouse.

He was a chief of staff, political strategist and parttime press secretary wrapped into one.

Newsmen found him among the more accessible members of Rhodes' inner circle; he often answered his own phone when contacted in his office in the early evening.

Relaxing earlier this week at a reception, he told a reporter "I plan to keep my mind absolutely blank for at least the next month."

He will do a little gardening at his Columbus home and try to "revitalize and decide what I want to do. I might do nothing at all."

It's not easy to leave,' Dr. Rose says

WCH's loss is Clinton County's gain

BY GEORGE MALEK

Dr. James E. Rose, 120 River Road, a native of Wilmington, has decided to return home after more than 40 years. He and his wife, Mary Jo, who was born near Wilmington, will soon be leaving their many friends in Washington C. H. and moving to a large, wooded home site on Webb Road just outside Wilmington.

"It's not easy to leave when you have made as many friends in an area as we have," Dr. Rose said, "but it is something we've wanted to do ever since I was discharged from the Army after World War II." The physician had begun practice in Sabina and was there for five years before being called to head a 16-member medical evacuation team in the Pacific. He left military service with the rank of captain, and prepared to open a practice in Wilmington. However, he recognized a pressing shortage of professional medical personnel in Washington

C. H. and decided to open an office here "temporarily." That was about 30 years ago.

"ALTHOUGH WE always said we'd get back to Wilmington, we just never seemed to get around to doing it," said Mrs. Rose. Clinton County has much to offer the couple. Both spent their childhood there, being raised within the closely knit Friends Church which they still attend. Relatives, friends and a wealth of memories have been a constant attraction to them. Several factors finally prompted them to make the move. Last spring they were able to obtain an option on a large wooded estate outside Wilmington. They purchased a home situated on several acres of land which included three lakes. "It's peaceful there, and the land is just beautiful," said Mrs. Rose.

Professional considerations also weighed heavily. Dr. Rose noted that at the time there was little hope of seeing a full-time emergency room staff at Fayette Memorial Hospital. During 1974,

Dr. Rose was "on-call" for emergencies every seventh week. Since there were 12,000 emergencies at the hospital during the year, a reasonable estimate indicates that the doctor treated nearly 1,500 emergency cases, in spite of the fact that there was weekend coverage of the emergency room. "I was getting a little old to 'not sleep' one week out of each seven," Dr. Rose added.

Wilmington did have full-time emergency room coverage similar to what has since been initiated at Fayette Memorial Hospital. "I can't say we wouldn't be moving had the emergency room program begun earlier, but it was certainly an influence at the time," he explained.

Perhaps the greatest incentive has been the success of the physician recruitment program. "In the past, I felt it would

Lottery luck turns sour COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)- Just a week after he won $300,000 in the Ohio Lottery. Joe Brown's luck made an about face Thursday. The 37-year-old Columbus man was sentenced to 3-15 years in prison on charges of burglary and vandalism. Brown earlier pleaded guilty to the charges in common pleas court and was free on bond awaiting the outcome of a probation report when his winning ticket was drawn.

The charges stem from the theft of a stereo, television set and clock, with a total value of $150, from an apartment last March.

Brown's attorney said he will file a petition seeking shock probation at the end of 30 days.

Brown said he had turned his winning ticket over to his mother so she can collect the winnings.

present a hardship on community residents as well as other doctors because there was still a shortage of physicians here." "However, it appears that several young doctors will be opening practices in the area, and my office will be assumed by one of them," he

Also influencing the Roses is the fact that they found a lull in their community activities. "Each time we had considered moving in the past, Jo or I was involved in something we just didn't want to leave," Dr. Rose said. Although he was reluctant to expound on the subject, a little research explained what the doctor meant. The list of community programs in which the couple has been involved is rather impressive.

Dr. Rose was on the planning and equipment committees when Fayette Memorial Hospital was established in 1950. He was a charter member and chief of the medical staff. Since that time he has served on nearly every hospital committee including the committees on records, medical credentials, laboratory, pharmacy, utilization, and the executive medial committee. Although he feels that the hospital is overburdened with an excess of committees, he has faithfully served on them for 25

Along with Mrs. Jean Craig. Omar Schwart and Robert Brubaker, and others, Dr. Rose spearheaded the birth of the Scioto-Paint Valley Guidance Center, Chillicothe, which serves Fayette County residents. He has been on the board of governors since the center was established and is a former president of the board.

Mrs. Rose and her husband were both active in the establishment of the Fayette County Senior Citizens Center in the early 1960s. She served on the governing board until just recently, and Dr. Rose was on it for several years.

An outstanding athlete in high school, Dr. Rose has always enjoyed working with youth groups. Although Cub Scouting and Boy Scouting have received the greatest part of his attention, he has also assisted little league and pony league programs. While at Wilmington High School, Dr. Rose lettered in football, baseball and track, serving as captain of the football team his senior year and being selected as the All-SCOL quarterback his junior and senior vears. He has been an outdoorsman since childhood, and he and Dr. Joseph Herbert accompanied the local Boy Scout troop to Canada for a canoe outing four years ago.

First urged to enter the field of medicine by the superintendent of schools, Harry Hodson, while in high school, the doctor said his career has been immensely rewarding, but rather grueling. He worked full-time with the Ohio Bureau of Motor Vehicles during seven years of medical school, having to give up football after two years at Ohio State University. "Working and studying just didn't leave enough time for football," he said.

"When you're a doctor, you can never leave business behind," Dr. Rose explained. He said no matter where a doctor goes he's called upon to help, but it's all part of the profession. He related an example which was typical of many other more serious cases.

"We were out on a boat on a large lake in Canada one morning when a man in a rowboat approached and asked if I was the doctor staying nearby. He seemed greatly relieved to have found us which was understandable considering the size of the lake. He then explained that he was the only one in their party who could handle a boat and asked whether or not I might be able to remove a threepronged fish hook from his hand." "Complete with sinker and lure, he showed me the hand on the far oar in which the hook had lodged. He was rather embarrassed when I used his wire cutters to cut off the barb and withdraw the shaft from his hand," Dr. Rose said.

"HE MUMBLED to himself about why he didn't think of that himself, and then confided to me that the accident had occurred the night before and he had been looking for me ever since. It took about a minute to remove the hook - without surgery."

Helping others is usually its own reward, but in many cases the friends made through professional contacts offer an added bonus that can last a While with the Boy Scouts in Canada, Dr. Rose was summoned to a nearby camp to treat a young girl. He spent the better part of a day with her, administering antibiotics for an infection. The family, residents of Michigan, were very appreciative and have often invited Dr. and Mrs. Rose to their home in Saginaw, and enjoy occasional telephone conversations during the year.

"Hundreds of other friendships have been made, most with local people, and it will be difficult to leave," the couple admits, "but we have always considered Wilmington our home." Onefourth of the doctor's patients are Clinton County residents, and he has maintained his staff status at Clinton County Memorial Hospital.

Split up Texas, Congressmen urges

WASHINGTON (AP) — A con- Texas' consent out of the former servative Texas congressman has a plan he believes will help him fight liberals: break the Lone Star state into five separate states and thus increase the number of conservative governors and senators.

Republican Rep. James M. Collins proposed Thursday that such a division would give the former state of Texas a total of 10 U.S. senators, rather than two; five governors, rather than one; and enough clout to deal with liberals from the East, North and West.

"Instead of having one state of Texas, we should have five Texas states including North, South, Central, East and West Texas," he said in a House speech.

He would keep the name "Texas" in each state because "everyone would want to be a Texan," he said in an interview.

Collins would take advantage of the resolution under which Texas was admitted to the United States in 1845. It said that four states, in addition to the state of Texas, could be formed with

Ohio House sets probe of PUCO

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) - The Ohio House voted Thursday to establish a special committee to investigate ratemaking procedures of the Public Utilities Commission (PUCO) relating to the energy shortage an consumer utility bills.

Rep. Thomas J. Carney, D-71 Youngstown, won 82-1 approval of his proposal as the House and Senate awaited committee action on Gov. James A. Rhodes' four proposed constitutional amendments for the June 3 primary ballot. The latter were all sidetracked until next week, although some committee activity continued on the governor's four-part economic package. The proposals must be approved no later than Wednesday to be on the ballot. Floor sessions were recessed until Monday afternoon.

Carney, a harbinger of energy problems when he introduced a bill more than two years ago to explore the state's energy resources, acknowledged that various other bills now pending might bring "partial solutions" to energy problems and soaring utility bills, but he said nothing short of an "intensive investigation" could lead to far-ranging programs.

With regard to the PUCO, the study would include a close look at the procedures under which the state's utilities are granted rate increases. These include a law which permits the utilities to place modern day equipment replacement costs in their cost of doing business, no matter when the equipment was installed.

Rep. John Wargo, D-2 Lisbon, along with 41 co-sponsors, underscored legislative discontent with the commission with introduction of a bill giving the legislature veto power over rate increases. Recent increases granted the commission have been 'particularly disastrous for retirees,' the Columbiana County legislator said.

Kidnappers may Energy plan kill candidate

BERLIN (AP) — Kidnapers of West Berlin mayoral candidate Peter Lorenz today threatened to kill him unless six jailed anarchists are released within 24 hours, authorities said.

A letter was sent to a German news agency setting down a rigid timetable for the prisoners' release and flight to freedom. It said unless the demands were met Lorenz would share the fate of Guenter von Drenkmann, the West Berlin chief judge who was slain last November. Von Drenkmann's slayers were never captured.

Republic of Texas. The congressman said this meant that the plan could be executed by the Texas state legislature.

At the heart of Collins' proposal is a complaint that his fellow congressmen are "doing everything they can to overrun the minority" of conservatives and his belief that most of the additional politicians from the region would support his conservative views.

"The Eastern liberals are asking for no tax on fuel oil and all the tax on gasoline. The Western liberals suggest nationalizing the oil industry. The Northern liberals want price ceilings on beef," he said.

Everyone wants to work over Texas because we have a small voice. The time has come for Texas to be five states," he declared.

Ray says he'll tell of 'others'

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) - James Earl Ray will tell "the names of the other people involved" if an appeal does not win him a trial in the murder of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., Ray's brother says.

Jerry Ray made the statement Thursday after his brother, who originally pleaded guilty in King's death, was turned down by U.S. District Court Judge Robert M. McRae Jr. in his request for a trial.

"He told me personally that, if he did not win an appeal, he would reveal the names of everyone involved," Jerry Ray said of his brother. "There seems to be a lot of people who don't want his story to get out, but they are not going to hush him up.'

Ray's attorneys said they would immediately appeal McRae's ruling to the 6th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

The 38-page ruling said Ray "cooly and deliberately" admitted to the slaying when he pleaded guilty March 10, 1969. It said McRae found no violations of Ray's constitutional rights to merit a full trial on charges in the April 4, 1968, slaying of King in Memphis. Ray, who is serving a 99-year prison sentence, had sought a trial chiefly on grounds that his former attorneys did not prepare an adequate defense and that he was pressured into the plea. However, he hinted at an eight-day hearing before McRae last fall that he was the unwitting participant in a conspiracy to kill King.

McRae said in his ruling that Ray had told his former attorneys and acting upon the direction of others, but none of them could corroborate Ray's version of other participants in spite of an extensive investigation in this regard.'

The judge rejected Ray's claim that defense attorney Percy Foreman of Houston, Tex., coerced the plea.

Rockefeller backpedals

WASHINGTON (AP) - Vice President Nelson A. Rockefeller told reporters early Thursday that his age has knocked him out of future presidential races, but hours later he backed away from that stand.

The 66-year-old Rockefeller told reporters flying back to Washington with him from an appearance in Detroit that his age poses "the reality that I'm not a competitive factor with rising stars" on the Republican scene.

"If I were in my 40s, or 50s even, then would think that was different," he added. "But I'm just not a competitive

But in a telephone interview with The Washington Post later in the day, Rockefeller did not rule out a future try for the presidency.

"I don't know what the circumstances are," he told the newspaper. "I'm totally disinterested at that point in that I'm very satisfied and happy and delighted and feel privileged at the opportunity I have and I will not think about what is going to happen on some speculative thing about the future.'

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Ford's nominees for two Cabinet positions have received approval from Senate committees, clearing the way for their expected confirmat full Senate.

The Commerce Committee voted unanimously Thursday to approve the nomination of William Coleman, a black Philadelphia lawyer, as secretary of transportation.

Meanwhile, the Banking Committee, voting in closed session, approved Carla Anderson Hills as secretary of housing and urban development. Committee sources said Chairman William Proxmire, D-Wis., and Sen. Joseph R. Biden Jr., D-Del., cast the only dissenting votes.

The vote came after representatives of six building, banking and allied organizations criticized Mrs. Hills' nomination for her inexperience in housing matters.

Mrs. Hills, now an assistant attorney general in charge of the Justice Department's Civil Division, had been defended by several senators at hearings earlier in the week. They said she would be able to bring fresh thinking to her Cabinet job.

Dent given new post

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Ford has named Secretary of Commerce Frederick B. Dent to be his special trade representative and the nomination seems assured of speedy Senate approval.

Senate Finance Committee sources said Thursday there appeared to be no opposition to Dent on that panel, which will conduct the hearings on the

Opinion And Comment

Though ardent environmentalists may not agree, there are some persuasive arguments in favor of reducing the number of birds congregated near Fort Campbell in Kentucky. Millions of starlings. grackles and other species do considerable crop damage in the area and create something of a health hazard. In addition the Army asserts that they are a potential danger to aviation.

Yet even when the best case for mass slaughter of the birds has been made, the manner of doing the job remains disturbing. It is not a clean certain method. First helicopters spray the roosting flocks with a detergent chemical which robs them of their natural protective oils; they are then doused with water. The result is a period of misery, both for those birds which survive and for the great numbers which freeze to death.

Perhaps those who censure this practice should be prepared to offer a more humane way of doing it. In this respect we are at fault; we can suggest no better alternative, having no expertise in such matters. Still, it seems likely that experts could devise control methods less disturbing to human sensibility. We suspect that the stories about hundreds of thousands of birds deliberately frozen to death and others flopping about in helpless misery haunt the thoughts of many Americans

A WORD EDGEWISE By John P. Roche

The 'Sears Roebuck nuke'

don't want to think about it - one of the greatest risks to our civilization, and I mean world civilization, has received very little public attention. I describe this as the problem of the "Sears Roebuck Nuke," the nuclear weapons which can be obtained virtually by mail order by nations not now members of the "nuclear club." The classic example here was India, which obtained for "peaceful purposes" some atomic reactors from Canada and proceeded to use the plutonium byproduct to join the "club." The Canadians are currently negotiating with other countries, notably Argen-

Curiously — probably because we tina, for the sale of more of these reactors - naturally for "peaceful purposes." The United States in the 1950s installed 26 reactors in foreign states, but recently we have been much more cautious. (Though former President Nixon, during his joyous honeymoon with Egypt's President Sadat, did offer him a reactor.)

Then there is the problem of protecting American tactical nuclear weapons scattered throughout NATO. Let us take the worst case and assume that Turkey pulls out of NATO, that there are tactical nukes on Turkish soil. and that the Turks decide to keep them. Do we launch an expedition against

Turkey to rescue the weapons' systems? Can we count on the various electronic locks and the label that reads: "Not to be opened without permission of the President of the United States"? Or would the Turks shortly have an operational nuclear Experts differ slightly on the number of nations that could in a short period of time develop nuclear weapons, but the list is impressive and terrifying. Worse than that is the degree to which technology has almost reached the point where a suitcase could hold a murderous nuclear weapon and, given the extent to which present international conditions have fulfilled St. Augustine's pessimism about the nature of man, somebody could supply terrorist organizations with suitcases.

Fortunately at the moment we have as Director and Assistant Director of the United States Arms Control and Disarmament Agency two men who are acutely aware of these apocalyptic potentialities: Dr. Fred Ikle, and Amron H. Katz. Indeed, a quarter of a century ago, when Argentine Dictator Juan Peron announced he was (with the aid of a refugee Nazi scientist) building an atomic bomb (later dubbed the "baloney bomb"), Katz began to worry about the possibilities of "catalytic war" — that is, the ability of a malignant third power to trigger a nuclear exchange between the U.S. and the U.S.S.R.

As he put it in an article in 1961: "A third country, or its leaders, might in a fit of miscalculation or ignorance or stupidity or for other reasons, consider it useful to bring both the United States and the Soviet Union to their knees, thus elevating the relative position of the third country. One way for a third country to do this would be to put a bomb in a ship and set it off in New York harbor, with the hope that the U.S. thinking the Soviets did it, would immediately launch a 'retaliatory' attack on the Soviet Union. (Whether under such circumstances) we respond by getting into a big war depends on whether or not we have anticipated and thought about his possibility ahead of time." Sardonically, Katz suggested each nation be internationally assigned a color for its mushroom clouds. Then observers could ask, "Whose cloud is

There is a bitter note about this, as well there should be. For all intents and purposes the problem has been swept under the rug for years. Simultaneously, the number of nuclear powers has increased, to say nothing of those (like Canada) who could rapidly join the throng but have refrained on policy grounds. However, on Jan. 15, 1975, in a Washington speech which oddly enough got better coverage abroad than here, Dr. Ikle highlighted the dangers inherent in the worldwide spread of nuclear technology: "The truth is that we are basically defenseless against threats of nuclear attack that could come from a great many different sources rather than from one or two principal adversaries. Our strategic doctrine and strategic weapons systems are designed to deter these potential adversaries from launching an attack. . . In a world of widespread nuclear proliferation (our strategic) premises would be shat-

Ikle went on to suggest a number of safeguards that should immediately be given top priority, calling for an extensive critique and revision of our military strategies. The President and Congress should take a little time off from tennis and listen to our armscontrol experts.

Dear

Old flame still burns after 42 years

DEAR ABBY: I am still in love with the man I was in love with 42 years ago, when I was 16.

We both married different people. I had a very unhappy life being married to the wrong man for 41 years. Two months ago, my husband died. That's when I started to think about Benny again. I finally located him through his relatives, and I called him up. (He lives 600 miles from here.) When I told him who I was he nearly dropped dead. He couldn't talk much because his wife was there, so we made arrangements for him to call me from work. Now he calls me almost every day. We talked about old times and all the fun we used to have, and said he never stopped loving me.

His problem is his wife. They have been married for 40 years, and he doesn't know how to tell her that he doesn't love her, and he wants to be free to marry me. He said she is a sickly woman, she can't work, and he hates to hurt her. Can you help us?

STILL IN LOVE DEAR STILL: I know of no way for a man to tell his wife of 40 years that he wants to be free to marry his childhood sweetheart.

I think that you and Benny are trying to relive the past. It can't be done. Besides, Benny is very much married, and therefore unavailable. So do Benny, his family, and yourself a big favor, and get out of his life. You can't build happiness on the broken hearts of others.

DEAR ABBY: I have a 22-year-old daughter who is living with her boyfriend in a nearby town.

My friends and relatives don't know this and they are constantly asking me where she is. I get upset and start to cry and don't know what to say.

I raised this girl the best I could and I can't accept the fact that she turned out this way. How can I learn to live with

DEAR MOTHER: You can tell yourself that a 22-year-old daughter is responsible for her own lifestyle. If you raised her "the best you could," you needn't be ashamed. It's not necessary to say that she is living with her boyfriend. You can say that she is no Gov. Rhodes doesn't abide by this longer living at home. It's true.

packs a day for the last 30 years.) Al had a heart attack last year, and the doctor gave him some orders. Quit smoking (which he did, believe it or not) and avoid all excitement. (He was more specific; absolutely no fooling around with young girls unless he wanted to die in bed.)

Now Al tells me he's nervous and restless. He says he has to lead a more "normal" life and can't give up everything he enjoys. He's asked me if I would rather have him go back to smoking again, or fooling around with young girls. Isn't that a choice for you? How should I answer him? With all his faults. I love him and don't want to be a widow. But which is worse, lung cancer or a heart attack? AL'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: It's a draw. But with a choice like that you'd probably worry less if you saw Al smoking. (P.S. Your Al certainly is a shrewd trader.)

At the same time, it was reported that nearly all of the church's ministerial candidates who finished training at a rebel seminary now have been ordained or scheduled for it against orders of the Church president.

The developments came in the controversy-wracked Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod, a Midwesternbased body which has congregations across the nation totaling 2.8 million

Opposing efforts to do so, a group known as moderates met in Chicago last weekend and authorized incorporation of a nonprofit body to be called the Lutheran Church in Mission. It was projected as a standby organization, ready in case a split occurs, to provide a transitional structure on a temporary basis for groups or congregations leaving the denomination.

"If separate existence becomes necessary, something we all hope even now can be avoided, we intend our organization to be short-lived," says the Rev. Dr. Thomas Spitz of Manhassett, N.Y., a leader in the Chicago planning.

'Hopefully, some kind of relationship or new alignment involving other Lutherans will emerge into which we can enter," he adds, referring to possible future inclusion in other already existing major Lutheran bodies. Meanwhile, the Rev. Charles Vogeley, a graduate of a seminary-inexile, Seminex, formed in St. Louis a year ago when most students and faculty walked out of the denomination's regular seminary in protest, was-ordained and installed last Sunday at the Lutheran Church of Our Savior in Port Washington, N.Y. Virtually all of Seminex's approximately 100 graduates now have received Church calls, most of them ordained in defiance of orders by the church's president, the Rev. Dr. J.A.O. Preus.

Seminex, set up when the Rev. Dr. John Tietjen was fired as president of the denomination's historic Concordia Seminary on charges of teaching false doctrine, recently made him its president. It has 403 students this year, with classrooms in neighboring Roman United Catholic and seminaries. Concordia, once the nation's largest Lutheran seminary, has 193 students.

The Chicago meeting was called by an ad hoc committee led by Dr. Spitz, former executive of the Lutheran Council in the U.S. and now a Manhassett pastor, and the Rev. Omar Stuenkel, a Mabel Heights, Ohio, pastor.

Participants representing congregations in 22 states emphasized they did not want to become another splinter denomination, and that they regard the new organization only as a possible stepping-stone to affiliation with two other major Lutheran bodies in a longsought merger of them. They are the 3 million-member Lutheran Church in America and the million-member American Lutheran Church, Altogether, there are close to 9 million Lutherans in the coun-

Unification efforts between them, however, have been stalled by the controversy in the Missouri Synod

The Chicago meeting said in a resolution that moderate objectives such as evangelical church government and ecumenical participation, especially for inter-Lutheran unity, are "seriously impeded" by the present Missouri Synod administration.

However, activation of the new structure was made contingent on developments in the denomination, pending its governing convention next

Seminary students try poverty

By GEORGE CORNELL A man, approaching the checkout counter in a grocery store, discovered he had more items than he could pay for, and handed some of them to his young son to return to the shelves. A sympathetic stranger, overhearing their conversation, insisted the pair keep the food, and proceeded to pay for

That incident, along with the embarassment of becoming an object of charity, is the sort of experience some seminary students are going through to give them a direct sense of what it's like to be poor and do without.

"It's a simple exercise to bring home at the first-person emotional level a small part of what it means to be, if not starving, at least deprived," says the Rev. Dr. Richard A. Hoehn, a professor at Brite Divinity School, Texas Christian University, in Fort Worth,

With many church people now undertaking various symbolic Lenten gestures, such as skipping a meal on a day or two each week, to turn attention and savings to needs of the world's underfed, he suggests a genuine sense of identification with their life can be gained through the method used for his students. It involves living for two weeks on a weekly budget of $8 for a single person, $10 for a couple, $12.50 for a family of

"It's quite possible to get by on that kind of budget and no one starves, but the food you can get is very dull, and it's a trying experience for many students," he said in a telephone interview. "They gain some new insights, though."

In the process, surviving on the pinched resources, some persons become hostile, he noted. Occasionally one will relate later that he stole small items, such as a doughnut, but with pangs of conscience, went back and paid for it. Janie Wittich named to 4-H Fashion Board

A Madison County 4-H'er, Janie Wittich, 17, of Mt. Sterling, has been named to the 1975 Ohio 4-H Fashion Board. Announcement of Fashion appointments was made recently by Mrs. Alice Miskell, assistant state leader, 4-H, The Ohio

State University. Janie will represent the Washington Court House Extension

The members of the 4-H Fashion Board are selected from county candidates at the Ohio State Fair 4-H Style Revue. Selection is based on fashion know-how, modeling skill, and leadership ability. This year two other teenagers - the Ohio representative to the National 4-H Dress Revue and the Ohio 4-H clothing project winner will also serve on the Board. The 12-Fashion Board members represent more than 44,000 4-H'ers who participate in Ohio 4-H clothing projects. Janie is a senior at Madison Plains

High School. She is an active member of the Sterling Chefs and Stitchers and the Deercreek Raiders 4-H Clubs for 9 years, and the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Thomas Wittich.

Each 4-H Fashion Board develops special projects to promote 4-H clothing projects and activities. The Fashion Board recently met to plan activities for the coming year. The theme selected for 1975 is "Fashion Figures." Program emphasis will be given to getting the most from your clothing and your clothing dollars.

The 4-H Fashion Board is supervised by Mrs. Miskell and Extension Clothing specialists Mrs. Orena Haynes and Mrs. Norma Deyo. Ohio 4-H club work is the youth program of The Ohio State University's Cooperative Extension Service.

Maple Grove Women knot comforters

An all-day work session was held in the home of Mrs. Carey Daugherty Wednesday, when members of the Maple Grove United Methodist Women knotted three comforts. A potluck dinner was enjoyed at noon by Mrs. John Rowland, Mrs. Ottie Huff, Mrs. Marion Dawson, Mrs. John Louis, Mrs. Locie Eckle, Mrs. Neil Rowland, Mrs. Wilbur Chaplin, Mrs. Harold Craven and the hostess.

During the business conducted by Mrs. Chaplin, president, devotions were presented by Mrs. Harold Craven whose theme was 'Promises of God.' Some of the ones she mentioned were truth, needs supplied, security, religion, peace, joy, comfort, guidance, prayer, forgiveness, power and life eternal.

Prayer for missionaries with birthdays in the month was made, and all answered roll call by telling their favorite Book of the Bible and why. It was announced that dues to Church Women United were paid and that six had paid individual dues.

The Society presented a cash donation of $100.00 to the church, and

Auxiliary adds members

Seven new candidates were initiated into the Eagles Auxiliary recently when 22 members met in the Eagles Hall, Sycamore St. The initiation was conducted by the Ritual team and Mrs. Jeanne Minshall the business meeting.

Those initiated were Mrs. Katherine May, Mrs. Sheila Ingram, Miss Rebecca Holloway, Mrs. George Jordan, Mrs. Sandra Dale, Mrs. Helen O'Brien and Miss Penny Hardman.

District 12 meeting is planned at 2 p.m. March 9 in Xenia. The Women's Auxiliary will meet at the Elks Lodge in Xenia, and the men at the Eagles Lodge Home.

Mrs. Albert Hyer won the 'secret' package and Mrs. Ruth Ann Duncan the attendance award.

Mrs. Bernie Joslin was in charge of the closing. Mrs. Joslin and Miss Debbie Hildreth served refreshments. The next meeting will be March 10, when balloting will take place.

Class plans progressive dinner

A progressive dinner is planned for March 9 beginning at 5:30 p.m. in the home of Mrs. David Groves, where the salad course will be served. This is by the Willing Workers Class of the Jeffersonville United Methodist Church.

The meat course will be served in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Baker, and the dessert course and meeting will take place in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Douce.

members were told that volunteers were needed to help at the local clothing center.

The worship table was a picture of mountains and water and a landscape. The Bible was opened to Psalm 24, which told of "The earth is the Lord's, etc." The booklet, "Daily Strength for Daily Needs" was also on the table.

Garden Club observes birthdays

The Washington Garden Club held its annual birthday party honoring all members' birthdays for the year, in the home of Mrs. Robert Wilson, at a carryin dinner.

A gift exchange was held and games were the entertainment for the afternoon. Ceramic bluebird tooth pick holders were at each place setting, made by Dale Allen Merritt. Mrs. Wilson also gave each member a 3-D plaque made of flowers, birds and mushrooms, which she had made.

A brief business meeting was conducted and members voted on a new money-making project for the club.

The March meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. Walter Wilson, with Mrs. Robert Wilson assisting. A White elephant sale and a seed exchange will be a feature.

Present were Mrs. Dale Merritt, Mrs. Eulahlia Wade, Mrs. T.N. Willis, Mrs. Herbert Dawes, Mrs. Donald Meredith, Mrs. Edwin Hidy, Mrs. Walter Wilson, Mrs. Gilbert Hooks, Mrs. Orville Hurtt and Mrs. Wilson.

Class meets

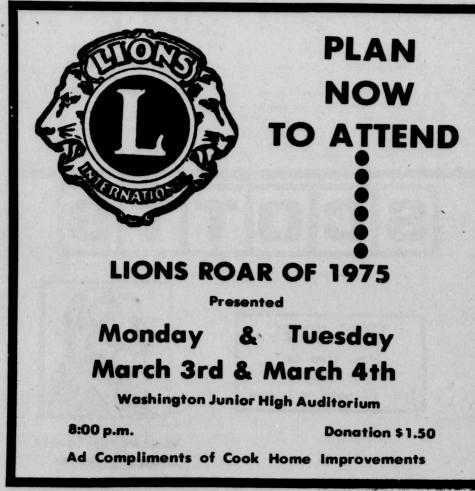

The Good Fellowship Class of First Christian Church met at the church and devotions were given by Mrs. Milbourne Flee. Her theme was "Kindness." She also read "Art of Living Each Day," "Six Things You'll Never Regret," and several selections from Guidepost. She then posted the sign, 'Smile, God Loves You.'

Mrs. John H. Frederick conducted the business meeting. To reach the goal in the 'Apple Polisher' contest of the Bible School for the month of March, plans were made to contact absent members and prospective new ones.

Fifteen members were present. The serving table was decorated in a patriotic theme of red, white and blue. Refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. Frederick and Mrs. Lavern Morgan.

Correction

In the news article Wednesday concerning the Washington C.H. chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution, it was reported that a floral arrangement was presented to Mrs. Henry Roszmann. The arrangement was given to Mrs. Henry Engle.

American egg-eating declines

WASHINGTON (AP) — Americans ate an average of 285 eggs each last year, the lowest per capita egg-eating rate since 1935, and the decline appears to be continuing this year, according to Agriculture Department figures.

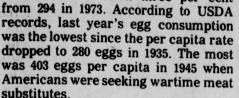

Several factors are involved, including concern in recent years over medical reports linking eggs with cholesterol levels. High retail prices in the last year apparently have reduced consumer demand. Further, egg production has dropped.

The 1974 per capita rate of 285 eggs consumed was down three per cent from 294 in 1973. According to USDA records, last year's egg consumption dropped to 280 eggs in 1935. The most was 403 eggs per capita in 1945 when Americans were seeking wartime meat substitutes.

One reason for suspecting that the egg consumption rate may decline again this year is that producers have trimmed laying-hen flocks sharply to offset feed and other production costs

Situation Board said Thursday that egg production totaled 183 million cases of 30 dozen eggs each in 1974. That was down one per cent from 1973 egg production and the smallest in nine years. The average number of hens in laying flocks during the year actually was the lowest since 1938, but today's hen produces more eggs in a year than her ancestor did then.

"Egg production continues lower in 1975 as layer numbers decline further below year-earlier levels," the report said. "January's egg output trailed January 1974 by three per cent as a result of four per cent fewer layers. However, eggs per layer continued higher.'

Officials said egg prices at the farm and at wholesale markets have dropped "more than expected" so far this year because of sluggish demand for egg products.

'High prices for sugar and cooking oils have substantially reduced baking, which in turn has reduced the demand for eggs," the report said.

According to USDA economists, the New York wholesale price of Grade A eggs used as a standard is expected to average 59 to 61 cents per dozen during the first three months of this year, compared with 67.5 cents in the first quarter of 1974.

Retail store prices of eggs in January averaged 84.2 cents per nationally, according to Department surveys. A year ago, in February 1974, they hit a peak of 94.5 cents per dozen before declining.

The poultry situation generally, as with other sectors of livestock production, has been hit hard by high feed costs and other expenses. Broiler and turkey producers have cut back sharply in recent months, meaning less for consumers in 1975.

"In the second half of 1975 production of poultry and eggs will gain relative to year-earlier levels," the report said. "However, the extent of this rise will depend on the financial condition of producers and prospects for larger 1975 corn and soybean crops.'

Rain, snow hit nation

By The Associated Press Rain splashed over the Pacific Northwest today and snow squalls swept the eastern Great Lakes.

Up to 2 inches of rain soaked sections of northern California and Oregon through Thursday. Rain turned to or was mixed with snow inland to the northern Rockies.

Snow blowing off Lakes Erie and Ontario piled up to several inches in some shore areas of western New York. Lighter snow fell in parts of the upper Great Lakes region.

Fair weather favored most of the rest of the nation.

Xenia aid request deadline today

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)-Today is the last day Xenia tornado victims can apply for federal aid under the and Family Grants Individual Program

The Ohio Disaster Services Agency had received 1,047 grant applications as of Feb. 21 for financial help for hardship-causing property damage under the program authorized by the 1974 U.S. Public Disaster Relief Act.

The tornado that devastated Xenia April 3, 1974, killed 32 persons, left thousands homeless and caused hundreds of millions of dollars worth of property damage.

CDSA Deputy Director Frank Ruvio Jr. said 436 persons have received grants for a total of $715,529.

Out of the total applications, 175 have been denied and the rest are pending. The agency has received numerous appeals of the denials or pleas for greater sums of money for grantees, he

The agency opened offices in Xenia and Cincinnati Feb. 26-27 to handle last minute claims.

Heidelberg offers cash to scholars

TIFFIN. Ohio (AP)-Heidelberg College is offering cash bonuses to attract scholars.

Outstanding high school graduates will be offered a onetime, $1,000 check for attending the college, a spokesman announced. Members of the board of trustees pledged $125,000 to fund the Trustee Academic Scholarship.

"Heidelberg is quite eager to attract to its freshman class each fall more young men and women who have displayed high academic achievement in high school," President Leslie Fishel Ruvio said personal appeals also will be handled locally at those offices on a date to be determined.

Few people have requested personal review of their grant requests, Ruvio

However, the appeal letters the agency has received reflect anger, frustration, inflationary pressures and the inadequate property insurance carried by many victims.

-A minister wrote that his grant would not cover the cost of replacing his clergyman's clothes.

—A 74-year-old man, whose grant was denied, cited the difficulty of paying off his U.S. Small Business Administration loan out of his Social Security payments.

-A Central State University student said the $450 he received to replace clothing and a color television stretched far enough to buy clothes, with just $85 left to replace the television set.

Ruvio said the biggest problem was people failed to understand the eligibility criteria for the grants.

The Federal Disaster Assistance Administration, part of the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development, set the guidelines stating grants were available for "serious needs for losses causing extreme hardships," Ruvio said.

The agency can approve grants up to $5,000 for replacement of household possessions, cars needed to get to work, tools, home repairs and rebuilding costs resulting from tornado damage.

Ruvio said, however, "This grant program is not considered an indemnification program."

Many persons covered by other forms of federal, state and charitable assistance, receiving small business loans, or with private insurance were not eligible for the federal monies, he

Saxbe optimistic despite fears

WASHINGTON (AP) Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe says the nation has a weak presidency, a confused public and floundering leadership in Congress, but he remains optimistic about the future. Saxbe, former senator from Ohio and now ambassador to India, said in an interview with The Washingtonian magazine that there is a national tendency to lack the toughness to solve major problems.

Ask railroad receivership

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)- Major creditors of the Erie Lackawanna Railway asked U.S. District Court Thursday to place the railroad into receivership for liquidation.

Attorney Frank Heath, representing the Morgan Guaranty Trust and the Cleveland Trust Co., told a hearing in federal court that one way or another the Erie is going to be liquidated.

Heath said the railroad's courtappointed trustees have changed their plans five times since the first of the year. He said the trustees petitioned the court to shut down because of a cash shortage but later withdrew the petition on expectation of getting federal aide.

Legislation providing funds for the Erie and some other financially troubled railroads has been approved by Congress and has gone to President Ford for signature.

But Heath said that in some form or other the government is "going to take over the railroad, and the real estate and other assets will be liquidated."

He said because of what he called the financial erosion that has taken over the Erie he doubts that the federal funds will be enough to pull the Erie out of its problems.

Overheated furnace creates thick smoke

A furnace at the Garnetta Benson residence, 611 McLean St., overheated and created thick clouds of smoke throughout the house owned by Howard Burke, at 3:45 p.m. Thursday.

Washington C.H. firmen were summoned to the scene, where they diagnosed the cause and flushed the smoke from the home with ventilating equipment. They reported no loss.

Sheriff's monthly report shows burglary increase "Burglaries and larcenies are on the increase, "Fayette County Sheriff Donald L. Thompson said in his monthly report for January.

"Last year, during the same month, the department recorded six burglaries and 23 larcenies," Sheriff Thompson said and continued, "the first month of 1975 has already tallied 13 burglaries and 30 larcenies; however, four of the burglaries and seven of the larcenies have been cleared."

Sheriff Thompson reported a decline in bad checks and auto injury.

"Seven bad checks were passed and three of those cleared, as compared to the 12 bad checks passed in January of 1974," he said.

There were 53 traffic accidents for the month and 10 injuries. Last year there were 57 auto mishaps and 17

Other areas of investigation involving sheriff's deputies during January, 1975, concerned the recovery of one stolen auto, one assault, six incidents of property destruction, two trash dumpings, three missing persons, three fires and one attempted suicide.

Deputies check minor accident

A car driven by Steven R. Farmer, 17, of Jeffersonville, struck a parked car belonging to Donald E. Cornell, of Jeffersonville, at 4:20 p.m. Thursday.

Fayette County Sheriff's deputies reported Farmer had been backing from a private driveway, onto Woodsview Drive when the mishap occurred. Damage was minor.

There were seven felony arrests made during the month, 241 hours worked by auxiliary deputies and a total of 369 complaints received at the sheriff's department.

Inflations ebbs, Heller believes

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Walter Heller, former presidential economic adviser, said Thursday that inflation is "ebbing fast," but that unemployment will rise to 9.5 per cent rather than the 8.5 per cent predicted by the Ford Administration.

Addressing a group of Xavier University, Heller cited the high unemployment rate and the eight per cent drop in Gross National Product as major contributors to the "miserable" state of the economy.

Blue Lions to meet old foe; Greenfield fills final berth

By PHIL LEWIS Record-Herald Sports Editor

The class AA sectional at Unioto dwindled down to a South Central Ohio League final as Greenfield beat challenger Vinton County Thursday night. It's a rematch of last year's sectional final when Washington ceme out on top with a 64-59 win.

There will be nothing new about the situation the Washington Blue Lions find themselves in Saturday night. Washington is a young team starting only one senior, but several of them are familiar with a sectional final and all of them are familiar with the Greenfield McClain Tigers.

The Blue Lions have three players back, who saw action in last year's contest with Chuck Byrd, Doug Phillips and Dewey Foster. Greenfield returns four starters from last year's second place team. Two of them led the Tiger scoring in last year's finale. Steve Willet had 17 and Bill Flynn scored 11. Doug Phillips hit 12 for the Lions.

The similarity over this year and last is a little different in one respect and a little foreboding for Washington The Blue Lions had beat Greenfield twice in

Jan Rittenhouse, former East Clinton High School all-state basketball player, joined the Marietta College varsity squad this week for hopeful post season

Marietta Coach Phil Roach chose Rittenhouse and three other junior varsity players to suit up with the varsity. The varsity captured the Ohio conference crown and finished the season, 18-3, with the best collegiate record in Ohio.

Vinton County 46

Greenfield grabbed an early lead and held on for a 53-46 victory over Vinton County Thursday night in the semifinals of the class AA sectional at Unioto.

McClain will now revive an old conference rivalry when the Tigers take on Washington C.H. in the sectional finals Saturday night at 7:30. The top seeded Tigers reeled off 25 points in the first quarter Thursday and threatened to run away with the game in the first half building leads up to 15 points. Then, McClain's offense hit a cold streak scoring only eight points in the second quarter. The Tigers shot a blazing 58 per cent from the field in the opening period.

Greenfield saw its eleven point lead diminish to five in the third quarter, but Vinton County's rally fell short.

The Tigers got some balanced scoring from the five starters as Bill Flynn led the attack with 16 points. The Greenfield defense did a good job on Vinton County's 6-foot-6 center Rick Hayes holding him to three points.

When Greenfield takes on Washington C.H. in Saturday's finals, it will be the third meeting of the two clubs this season. Greenfield won the two previous encounters.

The Unioto Shermans had 6-foot-7 center Greg Alcorn back in the lineup Thursday night as the Tanks blasted Western Pike 61-44, to advance to the finals in the Class A sectional at Chillicothe.

The all-SCOL center, Alcorn, sat out last Saturday's first round game against Huntington with a slight ankle sprain. Alcorn saw limited action Thursday, but he beefed up the Shermans' attack with 11 points. Unioto got enough scoring without Alcorn's contribution. Captain Steve Frey led the Tanks with 18 points and stocky forward Jeff Throckmorton added 14.

Unioto grabbed a seven point first quarter lead and the tanks held a comfortable margin through three quarters. Then, Unioto put the game out of reach with a 25 point final quarter outburst.

The win advances Unioto to the sectional finals against Adena Saturday night at Chillicothe. SCORE BY QUARTERS:

Cincinnati looks to NCAA tourney

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) - Of Ohio's major college basketball teams, only Cincinnati's Bearcats seem a virtual certainty to be selected for the NCAA postseason tournament.

Cincinnati can push its record to 20-5 with a home victory over DePaul Saturday night. That should all but lock up an NCAA at-large invitation next week.

DePaul-Cincinnati game highlights the last busy Saturday for Ohio colleges this season. Only five regular season contests will be played on the final Saturday next week.

The Bearcats have reeled off 13 straight victories in quest of their eighth NCAA bid, but first since 1966. Cincinnati won the national title in 1961

Toledo or Bowling Green could also land an NCAA tournament berth since both are still in contention for the Mid-American Conference title. The MAC champion automatically joins the tournament.

MT banquet set

Miami Trace Athletic Director Charles Andrews announced that plans for the annual basketball awards banquet are complete. Andrews said the banquet would be held on March 11, 6:30 p.m. at the Miami Trace High School cafeteria.

Richard Shrider, athletic director and former basketball coach at Miami University will be the guest speaker. Awards will be given in the auditorium after the smorgasbord type dinner.

Tickets cost $3.00 and are available from any Miami Trace basketball player or cheerleader. For further ticket information call Miami Trace High School

Toledo (8-4) needs a victory over lastplace Kent State to keep alive its title hopes. The Rockets will try to avenge an earlier loss at Kent State, playing without suspended head coach, Rex Hughes Jr.

Bowling Green plays outside the conference at home against highlyregarded Houston, Xavier visits Miami, Dayton goes to Notre Dame, Eastern Michigan to Ohio University and Ohio State to No. 1 Indiana in other big games Saturday.

Anderson ponders 3rd base vacancy

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Remember the old comic routine about "who's on

If the line went, "who's on third," Cincinnati Reds manager Sparky Anderson would have to say, "nearly

On a 40-man roster, there are currently eight players crowding the bag at third base, hoping for a shot at the starting role.

In addition, two other players -Johnny Bench and Tony Perez - know their way around the hot corner well enough to fill in in a pinch.

So far, Anderson's big problem has been deciding what he wants more hitting or fielding. Last season, Dan Driessen held the third base job, and there were complaints about his fielding.

"Right now I'm leaning toward going with defense at the position," Anderson said.

That means John Vukovich or Ray Knight might have an edge.

"It's the first time I've ever come to spring training with a chance to win a starting job," said Vukovich who hit .188 with the Milwaukee Brewers last says his attitude toward hitting has improved.

Anderson has promised to take a "long, hard look" at Joel Youngblood, a 23-year-old rookie.

"With his bat and speed, he could give us something extra," Anderson

Youngblood has a problem with getting hit by baseballs. Last year, he was hit twice on his right wrist and missed 45 games.

After being hit in the eye in 1972, Youngblood was moved from third base to the outfield where he played until this winter when he moved back during play in Venezuela.

Other candidates for the third base spot include Darrel Chaney, Arturo DeFreiteis, Doug Flynn and Junio

The unknown factor in the whole problem is Driessen, who is currently unsigned and whose arm is in a cast. Although the Reds spent the winter looking for a replacement for him, it may be Driessen who will again find his way to the top of the third base heap.

"If I get no offense at all, I may have to put a bat in there," said Anderson. "I'm going to mess with Driessen some more at third this spring.

"His bat may have to salvage us

Rozelle opens gates for WFL players

NEW YORK (AP) - Pete Rozelle has opened the floodgates, and the World Football League is likely to get swamped again.

Rozelle, commissioner of the National Football League, gave his league's 26 teams the go-ahead Thursday to sign any WFL player whose contract has been breached. If missing a pay day amounts to a breach of contract, many WFL players may be looking for new jobs.

Several NFL teams were quick to announce they weren't interested in many WFL players, but previous studies indicate that 60 or 70 players in the infant, debt-ridden league could help most NFL teams.

It is doubtful that the WFL, which has

Bob Stanton takes lead

LAUDERHILL, FLA. (AP) - The pressure won't bother barefoot Bob Stanton, now the leader but never a winner in nine long years on the American pro golf tour.

"I've never won in this country," said Stanton, an Australian native now living in Biloxi, Miss.

"But I've won big tournaments in Europe and Australia. In this country, I've been beaten by one stroke five times. It just as well could have been five wins.

"I've been in this position before. It won't bother me. I'll just play the best I can. If I can win, fine. If my best isn't good enough, someone else will win." Stanton took a three-stroke lead in Thursday's first round of the $260,000 Jackie Gleason Golf Classic, shooting a brilliant, eight-under-par 64 while tramping the fairways of the 7,128-yard Inverrary Country Club course with one shoe off and one shoe on. "I've got a calcium deposit in my

At a time when it was beginning to look as if the league will attempt to play a second season, Rozelle's announcement can do the WFL no good. Rozelle said the NFL would honor not signed a single college senior this

"valid WFL claims to player services." But he said any WFL player whose contract has not been honored may sign with an NFL team. According to sports attorneys, there are a considerable number of WFL players who qualify. Rozelle said any NFL team seeking sign a player must submit his WFI contract to Rozelle's office. In addition, the player must submit an affadavit, outlining the reasons he believes his WFL contract was breached and he must obtain, from an attorney, a legal opinion supporting his belief.

If the lords of the NFL are satisfied they are on safe legal ground, permission will be given to sign the WFL player.

In many cases, NFL teams own through the league's draft - rights to WFL players. For instance, Tommy Reamon, an exciting outside runner who led the WFL in rushing, is the property of Pittsburgh.

Guard Booker Brown and running backs James McAlister and Kermit Johnson - the WFL's most prized rookies last year - have already won their freedom from the WFL's Southern California Sun. Brown was drafted by Houston, McAlister by Oakland and Johnson by San Francisco.

TV Viewing

By JAY SHARBUTT AP Television Writer

NEW YORK (AP) - TV is bullish on awards shows. By next Thursday, at least six national awards programs for various forms of entertainment will have been broadcast this year. And it's about it if this is a thing that will draw

The spread of televised honors-giving in recent years concerns Bill Lowery, head of the National Academy of Recording Arts and Sciences, which is airing its annual Grammy awards bash on CBS-TV this Saturday.

"It's unbelievable," he says of the awards proliferation, adding that he feels it "could hurt all the pioneers in award-giving shows, no question about

The Grammy show, done live from the Uris Theater there, will dispense honors in more than 50 recording categories, ranging from "record of the year" to "best album notes." It'll be the second awards show this year on CBS, which already has aired an "Entertainer of the Year" show and will broadcast its first "People's Choice" awards program for entertainment on Tuesday.

says he thinks the spread of awards shows tends to steal some of the thunder of such veteran ceremonial conventions as the Grammy awards.

"We're not happy about it all," he says. "Of course, we can't do anything

"I guess they'll continue the other shows until such times as they fail to draw good audiences, because the networks I'm sure are interested in just one thing — ratings."

He said, however, that "there's still only one Grammy show, still only one Oscar awards show, and most of the other shows really just try to bask in the glory of it.

'This is the 17th annual Grammy program and I would not imagine that some of these other award shows will be around for 17 years.

Alioto's wife seeks divorce

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) - Mayor Joseph Alioto's wife Angelina, who publicly chided him last year for neglecting her, has filed for divorce. Mrs. Alioto, 59, cited irreconcilable differences in their 33-year marriage. Alioto's press secretary said, "The mayor said it's a purely a personal matter. He doesn't care to discuss it publicly." He added the 59-year-old mayor was "rather upset" when he heard of the divorce proceedings.

Mrs. Alioto drew national attention last year when she disappeared during her husband's unsuccessfully campaign for the California Democratic gubernatorial nomination. She said she did it to punish him.

Licking County plan rejected

NEWARK, Ohio (AP) - A state proposal for consolidation of Licking County into a regional vocational education district has been rejected by the county's joint vocational school

The state Board of Education had accept districts from Fairfield and Coshocton counties to form a new regional district.

Supt. Robert Lucas of Licking County said the state is pressuring existing vocational education districts to asked the Licking County board to stretch their resources too far.

Personal Invitation Sunday, March 2nd 12:00 NOON TO 5:00 P.M.

I'd like to welcome all my Hometown friends and neighbors to an OPEN HOUSE this SUNDAY.

I am having an exclusive showing of the HONDA 1000 SHAFT DRIVE MOTORCYCLE. It's been a long time since I've seen a lot of you, come up and look around.

If you've never been to Honda East, we're conveniently located at 1962 E. Main Street, between Alum Creek Dr. and Nelson Road. Just take 1-70 East to Alum Creek exit, turn North (left) and follow 5 miles to Main St., turn left on Main.

Come see our large display of Honda Motorcycles and you must see the Honda 1000. If nothing else, just stop in and say Hi.

of my rope because of the sharp pains shooting down my leg. I would gladly submit to surgery. Are there specialists who operate for this condition?

Dear Mr. G.:

The sciatic nerve, which runs the length of the back of the thigh and leg, is vulnerable to injury, inflammation and infection.

The causes are almost nerve. Herniated disks of the spine, arthritis, tumors, poor posture, sitting in one position for a long period of time are but a few of the causes.

been ascribed to chronic drowsy by one drug, but may be alcoholism, lead poisoning and even syphilis.

I mention these to emphasize the fact that the basic cause of sciatica must be firmly established before treatment is begun. It is apparent that if you, in your desperation to find kind of surgery, the likelihood of cure is minimal.

The way to approach your problem is to track down its cause with your doctor, a bone specialist and a neurologist. If, in their combined judgment, they feel surgery is indicated, they will recommend it. There are now many conservative

I have sciatica. I'm at the end ways to manage sciatica. These methods should be exhausted before any radical approach is considered.

> Are there any new anti-Mr. G.G., Mass. allergy drugs that are effective without causing drowsiness? Miss F.R., Ky.

Dear Miss R.: There are dozens of antihistamine, or anti-allergy drugs. Each is made by a diflimitless for injury to this ferent manufacturer. Each is colored and packaged differently. In essence, however, their chemical composition is almost identical.

For some strange reason, Some cases of sciatica have some people are not made made drowsy by another. Doctors find it difficult to explain why a man who weighs 200 pounds will become sleepy with a small quantity of the same drug that does not affect a young child.

For this reason, doctors relief, were to submit to some frequently change from one anti-histamine to another, hoping to find for their patient one that will be effective and yet reduce the annoyance of drowsiness.

MERRY MAIDENS 4-H CLUB The first meeting of the Merry Maidens Club was held at the Madison

Mills School. Adviser, Mrs. Kaser, called the meeting to order. We all repeated the 4-H pledge. The following officers were elected for the coming year: President, Sheri Kaser; vice president, Kathy Hanawalt; secretary, Jodi Hanawalt; treasurer, Debbie Strahler; news reporter, Jodi Hanawalt; health leader, Kathy Hanawalt; safety leader, Debbie Strahler; and recreation. Tina Kaser.

Some of the officers had to be doubled up since we didn't have enough members to fill the offices. If anyone else joins they will be given an office.

The club decided to have their dues as 10 cents again this year and to go to a local nursing home as a community project and make favors for patients.

The outing this year will be swimming and a picnic at Deer Creek Dam. The club is planning on taking some field trips to a bakery, dairy, or cheese factory. Mrs. Kaser was to look into the places available.

We will choose our projects this meeting and receive project books at the next meeting. In recreation time we played gossip.

Mrs. Kaser served refreshments at the close of the meeting.

Kathy Hanawalt and Debbie Strahler will serve refreshments at the next meeting.

YATESVILLE PRODUCERS

The second meeting of the Yatesville Producers 4-H Club was held in the home of Ben Iden, and called to order by Bart Taylor. Pledges were led by Robbie Barton and reports were read.

Members will divide into project groups each meeting to discuss projects. Committees were set up for speakers and tours. Serving on the tour committee are Doug, Leah and Rick Welsh, Bart Taylor and Randy Beekman. On the speaking committee is Leah Welsh, Bart Taylor, Bret Taylor, Lisa Cook and Doug Welsh. They will meet Tuesday, March 4 in the Taylor home.

Todd Cook gave a junior health report on "Personal Grooming." Sandy Lewis made a jurior safety report on "Bike Riding." Bart Taylor and Randy Beekman gave a demonstration on 'how to give a demonstration.'

The meeting was adjourned. Leah Welsh, reporter

Armco closing strip roll mill

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP) - The Armco Steel Corp., blaming lack of orders, will close down its hot strip rolling mill here for the first time since 1950, idling 300 employes for a week. A spokesman said those workers who do not elect to take paid vacations will be held on the labor reserve list.

The firm earlier laid off 618 workers. The company said 6,800 workers remain on the job, however.

Ballot impoundment order has expired

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) - Secretary of State Ted W. Brown reminded local election boards that his order to impound ballots from the 1974 general election has expired.

Brown said his office has received inquires from some of the state's 88 county boards about the impounded ballots.

The ballots were sealed the night after the Nov. 5 election when the result of the governor's race was in doubt. Former Gov. John J. Gilligan, who lost to Gov. James A. Rhodes, asked for a recount later when the difference between the two men was less than 13,000 votes.

Ohio Demos speed cities improvement issue

House Democrats emerged from a closed but noisy caucus Thursday night and sped through a committee the $2.5 billion city improvements bond issue Gov. James A. Rhodes wants on Ohio's June 3 primary ballot.

The surprise move, which seemed to stun minority Republicans, left the big spending proposal almost completely intact, including a proposed seventenths cent increase in the four per cent sales tax to finance the bonds over a 30year period.

Leaders declined comment on the closed caucus, which produced shouts that could be heard in an outside hallway. But some Democrats said privately that the changes they had been considering would have permitted Rhodes to put a Democratic stamp in the sensitive tax hike proposal.

In any event, the 11-2 vote by the House Ways and Means Committee by no means gave the measure clear sailing to meet next Wednesday's deadline for putting it on the ballot. Rhodes' three other amendments to make Ohio "depression proof" also remained in COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)-Majority Ocasek, D-27 Akron, served notice as the House and Senate quit for the weekend that he would seek to take the sales tax out of the legislation if it still was in it when it reached the Senate.

"I'll lead the charge to take it out," the majority leader told newsmen. Some Democrats wanted to shift financing of the bonds to an increase in individual and corporate income taxes, but not enough of them, apparently, to make the change

Others wanted to cut the amount of the bonds, limit them to 20 years, and provide for a half penny increase in the Chairman George D. Tablack of the House committee said Thursday afternoon he planned to offer those amendments at an evening session. When he reconvened the panel, however, he ordered an immediate roll call which was taken without comment.

House Speaker Vernal G. Riffe Jr., D-89 New Boston, whose voice could be heard in the caucus, reportedly sensed a possibly Rhodes maneuver to give the tax increase a Democratic label. The speaker is a potential candidate for

unaware of the Democratic caucus and prepared for a fight to keep Rhodes' proposal intact, emerged from the 10minute committee session off political balance. "I'm going to have to talk to someone to find out what's going on around here," she said.

With their outcome both in doubt, two of Rhodes' other proposed amendments were scheduled for floor votes in separate houses when the lawmakers return Monday afternoon from weekend recess.

The Senate will vote on a scaled-down version of Rhodes' transportation bond issue. It had been slated to come up Thursday, but was delayed after Ocasek counted only 18 favorable votes with a threefifths majority of 20 required for constitutional amend-Ocasek said there was a sizeable "hard core" of Democrats against the bond issue - now $1 billion instead of $1.6 billion proposed by Rhodes - but indicated he hopes to bring some of them around.

"I'd like to see it on the ballot," he

The House is slated to vote Monday afternoon on another embattled amendment which would clarify and expand the state's authority to issue revenue bonds for housing and nursing

Republicans, who attacked language in a substitute measure, Democrats voted out of committee, were told amendments would be made on the House floor. The biggest and perhaps unsurmountable trouble lies ahead for the last part of the Rhodes package, a proposal for massive tax breaks to industries locating or expanding in the state, especially in inner cities. The Republican governor originally described it as the most important part of his package.

The Senate Ways and Means Committee accepted a subcommittee's recommendation on the bill Thursday. It generally cut in half the 30-year tax breaks asked by Rhodes, and made other substantive changes.

Sen. Marigene Valiquette, D-11 Toledo, ways and means chairman, said the bill may not get to a vote of the full committee until early next week. Ocasek stopped short of predicting that amendment's demise.

But he said of the proposal: "Don't hold your breath.'

Marriages dip, divorces rise, federal data shows

WASHINGTON (AP) American marriage rate dropped in 1974 for the first time in 16 years while the divorce rate rose for the 12th consecutive year, the government reported today.

At the same time, the decline in the U.S. fertility rate slowed and began leveling off last year, the national Center for Health Statistics said.

The center, an arm of the Department of Health. Education and Welfare, said provisional 1974 statistics show that both the total number of marriages and the marriage rate decreased for the first time since 1958.

There were 2,223,000 marriages cent fewer than in 1973. The marriage rate decreased 3.7 per cent, to 10.5 per 1,000 population.

The report said the marriage decline occurred in every region of the country except the West South Central region encompassing Texas, which was one of 14 states with modest increases.

970,000 last year, up 57,000 or 6.2 per cent over 1973 and 13.5 per cent higher than in 1962, which was the last year before the upward trend began.

The 1974 divorce rate of 4.6 per 1,000 population represented a record high 4.5 per cent increase over the previous year and a 109 per cent increase over

The center's provisional report said only six states - Arkansas, Missouri, New Jersey, Ohio, Vermont and Wisconsin - had fewer divorces in 1974 than in 1973 and those differences were minor in most instances.

The latest annual fertility rate of 68.4 births per 1,000 women between the performed last year, 54,000 or 2.4 per child-bearing ages of 15 and 44 years was only I per cent lower than in 1973, compared with the previous three-year decline averaging 7 per cent, the report

Subway train crash kills 15

LONDON (AP) — A subway train crashed into protective buffers of a station at the peak of the morning rush hour in London today, killing at least 15 persons and injured at least 40, police

About 50 persons were trapped in three coaches that were badly smashed up, a spokesman for the London Fire Brigade said.

'Two of the coaches are concertinaed in an area where one coach would normally go," said Commander Ernest Bright of the City of London during the busiest period of the morning rush, when subway trains are always crammed with passengers and many of them are standing.

The crash occurred at Moorgate station in the City, London's financial district in which hundreds of thousands of commuters work.

Shortly after the wreck, about 100 workmen began fighting their way through the tangled wreckage with metal-cutting equipment to reach trapped passengers.

Police and subway officials said it was not immediately known what caused the crash of the six-coach train. It occurred on a line between the City and the northern suburbs of London.

A police spokesman said the train overran the platform and went into a
